June 2016 Dealer Announcement

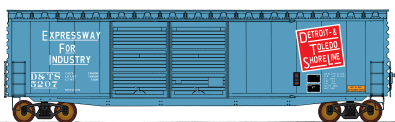

NEW HO SCALE

SD38-2 LOCOMOTIVES

Introduced in 1972 and produced throughout the 1970's this workhorse locomotive was used primarily in yard service for many Class I railroads. Almost all of those produced are still in service today and, in many cases, being retrofitted as Remote Control yard locomotives. There is room on most layouts for several of these units. Reserve yours now!! This up to date, state-of-the-art tooling will be a welcome addition for many modelers. Delivery is slated for Winter of 2017 as we have to complete the tooling for this model.

HO SCALE PS-1 50ft. DOUBLE DOOR BOXCARS

InterMountain has done the tooling for a new cushion underframe in order to expand the options for this popular freight car model.

The seven road names released are all NEW and feature the new underframe. Several of them are the colorful schemes seen in the 1960's. Reserve now for winter delivery! These will be a welcome addition to the single door cars already on reservation.

MONTHLY RELEASES FOR SHIPMENT IN JUNE

Items to be shipped in June include HO U-18B and SD40-2W locomotives as well as 20ft. containers and the Procor pressure flow hopper car. Shipment will begin the week of June 6. Quantities are limited so order early.

SHOW SCHEDULE

Be sure and come by our booth to see all of the new offerings. Our staff will be there to answer any questions you may have. Our hope is that we will have samples of the NEW N scale SD40-2 WITH SOUND to display at both of the above shows. At this time we are awaiting factory samples for testing.

LokProgrammer for ESU® Decoders

ESU® decoders are feature packed with numerous optional configurations. As such, accessing these features with a DCC system, while possible, can be time consuming. Enter the LokProgrammer! With this piece of hardware, a Windows based computer, and the FREE LokProgrammer Software, you can easily program CV values and customize your ESU decoder's sound and lighting features.

In addition, you can also completely re-write the sound file! Sound files are free to download from the ESU® website. As newer sound recordings or decoder firmware is made available, there's no need to ever remove the decoder from your locomotive to take advantage of new technology. Speaking of new technology, experience FULL THROTTLE now available in 7 all new sound files!

Now is your chance to buy this invaluable piece of hardware for LokSound decoders for a limited time MSRP of $150 from June 1st – August 31st 2016. The LokProgrammer works standalone, or even better with the ESU Decoder Tester.

ESU® Decoder Tester

Maybe you know the situation, in front of you is a digital decoder on the workbench, and before you undertake its installation into the loco, you would like to know if the decoder works as advertised. But, how do you test it? The ESU® Decoder Tester of course! Designed for testing decoders before these are installed into a loco, the decoder tester is simply hooked up to your DCC command station, or the LokProgrammer.

To make testing decoders simple, the decoder tester comes with connections for a 6-pin NEM 651 plug, a standard NMRA 8-Pin NEM 652 Plug, a 21-pin MTC-interface, the Next18 socket, and the PluX22 socket. Decoders without a plug or socket can be connected using the labeled screw terminal block. A screw terminal assures safe connection between your decoder tester and your DCC system or LokProgrammer.

A high quality, 5 pole skewed armature can motor with flywheel serves to check the motor output. An LED monitor informs you about the function of the headlight and rear light outputs as well as auxiliary function outputs AUX 1 through AUX 4 for a total of up to 6 lighting functions. A 20 mm loud speaker is included for testing sound decoders.

Both of these great pieces of hardware are available from InterMountain Railway Co. or your favorite hobby dealer!

The Power of Railroading... In YOUR Hands

LOKSOUND

It is often challenging to make a scale model perform like it has the mass of a 260,000lb locomotive pulling 5,000 tons or more! Some of this can be done with BEMF - when the loco "feels" a load, it will automatically rev up to work harder to pull this actual load. This is often a flawed method in modeling. Today, model train car wheels are so free rolling that they often do not simulate sufficient drag to replicate a typical prototype situation. Also, often we do not sufficiently weigh our cars to represent a scaled-down version of the prototype. One of the biggest problems with BEMF controlled load is due to the fact that in our modeling and operations we often "simulate" loads inside a closed car. The payload inside a prototype car can weigh as much as 100 tons more than the car itself. This is especially important at operating sessions; Empties-In, Loads-Out or vice versa. There is no way for a decoder to know the proposed weight of the cars it is pulling. Our "car cards", showing whether a car is loaded or empty, are seen only by the operator, not by our decoders!

To compensate for what the decoder cannot know, we have created "Full Throttle" decoder features! This series of new features includes "Drive Hold", "Run 8", "Coast", improved "Dynamic Brakes" and a new "Independent Brake" feature.

Join us on FACEBOOK or YouTube and enjoy the great "Full Throttle" video series!

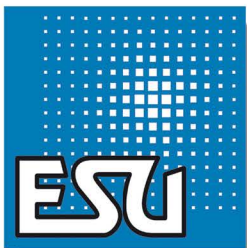

GE's, EMD's and ALCO's put on an awesome display as we put ESU's "Full Throttle" features to good use pulling HEAVY tonnage over Holman Summit on Mike Confalone's museum quality Allagash Railway.
